SIIA Announces 2014 CODiE Award Winners in Education

Thirty-One Innovative Products Recognized for Industry Excellence

WASHINGTON, D.C. (May 14, 2014) The Software & Information Industry Association (SIIA), the principal trade association for the software and digital content industries, announced winners of the 2014 CODiE™ Awards in education categories during a special awards reception and dinner, held during SIIA's annual Education Industry Summit. Overall, 31 winners were recognized for their products and services deployed specifically for the education market.

All of the nominated education products and services were first reviewed by a group of tech-savvy educators from across the nation, whose evaluations determined 146 finalists. SIIA members then reviewed these finalists and voted to select 31 CODiE Award winners, listed here by category, company, and product/service:

About the CODiE™ Awards

The CODiE™ Awards, originally called the Excellence in Software Awards, were established in 1986 by the Software Publishers Association (SPA), now the Software & Information Industry Association (SIIA), so that pioneers of the then-nascent software industry could evaluate and honor each other's work. Since then, the CODiE Awards program has carried out the same purpose – to showcase the software and information industry's finest products and services and to honor excellence in corporate achievement.
